Objective

I am hardworking and dedicated to my role and my own professional development. I love a challenge and constantly set goals for myself to achieve, both in work and in my personal life. My goal is become a full-stack developer .

A dedicated computer science student, pursuing Bachelors in Computer Applications. Holding Front-end development also with a learn-in-progress Back-end development. Along with skills in coding.

Performance driven and positive approach towards work as well as academics and team-management is something that describes me. I am a seeker by personality who loves learning new things and implementing them as per requirement.
